County Infirmary Squabble Settled With No Fireworks

Supervisors Keep Supt. King on Job; Hart Resigns From Group

Heated words flew during the closing minutes of the meeting of the Lee county board of supervisors yesterday afternoon when the county infirmary subject was finally approached as the last item of business to be considered. In those few minutes some apologies were made before the open board, one member of the county infirmary committee tendered his resignation and Superintendent William King was continued in his duties as superintendent at the infirmary.

Contrary to previous statements by members of the committee, no requests for King's resignation were forthcoming. Instead Chairman A. C. Higby of the infirmary group stated that he had no thought of "firing anyone" or asking for resignations. J. W. Cortright, member of the committee, who apparently had been forgotten in most of the half dozen meetings of the committee during the past month, with the exception of two which were held this week, charged that "the Lee county home is being made the laughing stock of the entire state of Illinois." The South Dixon representative on the board charged that Supervisors Higby and Leon Hart had not considered his membership on the county infirmary committee of sufficient importance to invite him to attend the several special meetings of the committee, adding that both owed him their apologies.

Expected Bomb a Dud

A situation which had had the prospects of a bursting bomb, turned to be a fizzle as the brief exchange of charges was aired and the board adjourned. All reports pertaining to the Lee county home were deferred until the last item of business on the program for the day, when the committee brought in its list of claims, which were allowed, then introduced a resolution which changed the name of the institution from the Lee County Home to the Lee County Infirmary, which was adopted by the unanimous vote of the board members. Then came the reading of the list of 11 rules and regulations which had been drafted by the committee under which the institution is to be operated. For some minutes the board was silent awaiting some one to move the adoption of the rules.

Supervisor Elmer Miller finally arose and as a member of the infirmary committee, stated that the committee felt that it was necessary to adopt rules to keep the property in a clean and sanitary condition, and he moved the adoption of the list. This started what fireworks there were. Supervisor Leon Hart was on his feet, as the second member of the committee to address the board.

Dislikes Questions

At his remarks, the Palmyra supervisor stated that certain accusations had been made behind his back, which he disliked, adding that he did not require a mouth-piece to represent him after his years of experience on the board. He expressed his regret that Superintendent King was not present to hear the discussion, and said:

"This committee has received no

British Say Hess Asked Churchill's Ouster for Peace

Nuernberg, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The British government disclosed to the international military tribunal today that Rudolf Hess flew to Scotland in 1941 with proposals to unseat the Churchill government and make peace with a new cabinet which would assure the Nazis a free hand in Europe.

Hess, a "scarecrow figure in a second hand suit, clutched his hands on the prisoners' dock rail as a British army officer demanded his punishment as one of the 22 Nazi defendants here.

Opening the individual prosecution case against the former No. 3 Nazi, the British presented reports of interrogations of Hess that were recorded after he parachuted onto a farm near Glasgow May 10, 1941. In these reports Hess declared he had come to convince Britons that "Hitler would sincerely regret the collapse of the British empire" and that they should make peace before it was too late.

He sought to show the British that "avaricious Americans" had evil designs on the empire and Canada would certainly be incorporated in the United States."

Captured minutes of a conversation between former Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Benito Mussolini in Rome three days after the flight said Hess had sent a farewell letter to Hitler promising to "use Great Britain's fascist circles to persuade the British to give in."

Naval Air Program to Train 28,700 Reserves

Washington, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The Navy plans to train an air reserve of 28,700 Navy and Marine men, ready for any emergency.

Vice Adm. Arthur W. Radford, deputy chief of naval operations for air, disclosed today that the program provides for the exclusive use of 15 naval air stations and of seven other stations in part.

The Navy plans to start training about July 1. Pilots will receive about 100 hours of flying and a two-week tour aboard a carrier.

The 15 stations for full-time use of the reserve include one at Glenview, Ill.

Veteran Looks to Magistrate to Recover Artificial Foot for Him

Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Ignatius Miedziewski, 22-year-old former GI, hopes a Philadelphia magistrate can get his artificial foot back for him.

The youthful veteran says his former landlord, Joseph Galzarano, 51, seized all his furniture and the foot for non-payment of $28 rent.

Yesterday, Magistrate John F. Daly held the landlord in $800 bail for grand jury action on a charge of fraudulent conversion.

Miedziewski and his 16-year-old wife, Doris, had to vacate their apartment in Galzarano's home.

"My funds were getting so low we couldn't buy food," he said. "The government cut my pension from $103 to $81 a month because of the job training and the artificial foot it gave me."

Navy Reveals Plan for Post-War Fleet of Combatant Vessels

Split 319 Ships and 3,627 Planes for Instant Use in Both Oceans

Washington, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The navy revealed today its post-war blueprint for the nation's first line of defense—a fleet of 319 fighting ships fit for "instant action" and ready to launch a sky armada of 3,627 planes.

The biggest force would be allocated to the Pacific where a combat force of 176 warships is planned. The Atlantic detachment would muster 143 men-of-war.

Behind these main operating forces would be two formidable reserve fleets in stand-by condition, ready to be mobilized swiftly should changing world conditions necessitate reinforcements.

The Pacific and Atlantic fleets will be sub-divided into half a dozen or more units, active, ready reserve, laid-up fleets, each with numerical designations.

Effective Next Fall

The program, including the selections of specific ships for active duty, was outlined in the annual report of Secretary of the Navy Forrestal to President Truman. Its effective date was set for completion of demobilization next fall.

Here are the navy plans for the

I. N. U. Builds 250 Miles of Electric Lines in Country

During 1945 the Illinois Northern Utilities company built 250 miles of the total were built since summer when the war production board began lifting its restrictions against the use of critical materials.

The new power lines made electricity available to 1100 farms in the area.

George E. Fluhr, vice president of the company, said 16,748 farms and rural units, or 81.7 per cent of the area's total, had electricity available at the end of the year. He said additional rural power lines were being built as rapidly as manpower and materials would permit and that the utility's goal for 1946 was to bring electric service to as many farms as possible in the 4500 square-mile territory served by the company.

There are about 20,500 farms and rural units in the company's territory, all but 3752 of which are now adjacent to power lines, he said.

To Ration Meat if Necessary to Help Beat Off Starvation

President Hopeful Wheat Conservation Order Will Help Others

Washington, Feb. 7.—(AP)—President Truman said today he would call for a return to meat rationing if it becomes necessary to prevent 10 to 15 million people from starving to death.

The president told his news conference that he thought it would not be necessary to ration meat that he hoped not.

If, however, it becomes necessary to keep from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 people abroad from starving, he continued, he thought the country ought to do it.

He explained that he was vitally concerned with the prospect of widespread starvation in war-torn countries, accentuated by losses of wheat crops in some countries and other grains elsewhere.

He hopes, he said, that his wheat conservation order yesterday may make it possible to ship 6,000,000 tons of wheat abroad during the first six months of this year.

Canada, Australia and other countries with food surpluses are being asked to cooperate, he said adding he was confident that the American people will cooperate fully by buying less.

What this country is trying to do, he said, is take care of its allies first.

Although Americans have been asked to share their bread with the starving people overseas, they may actually eat better than before, for a time.

Their own bread will be dark, and they may find less whiskey and beer, but there should be a temporary jump in pork, beef, poultry, eggs and some dairy products.

Depends on Weather

How long this richer diet may last hinges on the weather—spring and summer rains and fall frosts. For a bad crop season could well whittle down supplies of animal products to a point where rationing again might be necessary late in the year.

Truman, in a statement declaring the world faces a food crisis which may be the "worst in modern times", yesterday ordered government agencies to draft emergency rules to cut consumption of wheat at home so that "mass starvation" abroad may be averted.

The cuts in American consumption will take these forms:

1. Millers will be required to convert a larger portion of each bushel of wheat into flour. This flour will be dark in color, less tasty and less suitable for cakes, pies and other pastries. But it will take fewer bushels of wheat to meet American bread and pastry needs.

Less Grain for Liquor

2. The use of wheat in making whiskey and beer will be forbidden. Also the use of other grains for these beverages will be reduced. There was no immediate indication what effect this will have on current supplies.

3. Farmers will be asked to feed less wheat and other grains to livestock. Truman directed the agriculture department to develop programs designed to pare down

Three Divorce Suits Disposed of Before Judge George Dixon

The Lee county Circuit court will adjourn today and the court room will be turned over to the painters and decorators who will begin repairing and redecorating the large room. The domestic relations cases which usually are heard by Judge George C. Dixon on each Friday, were called and disposed of today. Court will not be resumed until the latter part of the month.

Lawrence Sheller was granted a divorce from Bessie O. Sheller on the grounds of cruelty. The couple were married at York, S. C., March 31, 1944. Attorney Edwin Merrick appeared for Sheller and Attorney Albert Kennedy represented the defendant. Fern Barbara Barroga, represented by Attorney Edwin Merrick was granted a decree for divorce from James Ployin Barroga on charges of cruelty and intoxication. The couple were married at Kahoka, Mo., Dec. 22, 1941, and the plaintiff was granted the custody of a minor child. Attorney Albert Kennedy appeared in behalf of the defendant.

John W. Carlson was granted a decree for divorce from Dorothy Carlson on charges of desertion. The couple were married in Dixon Oct. 17, 1934. Attorney E. S. Wadsworth appeared for Carlson.

Divorced Mother May Be Summoned on Kidnap Charge

State's Attorney Morey Pires was today confronted with an action, reported to have in it elements of kidnapping, which is the subject of consideration and investigation with possible criminal prosecution. The case is the outgrowth of a divorce decree issued by Judge George C. Dixon on July 26, 1943, in which Ruth Leonorhae Hansen obtained a divorce from Charles E. Hansen, Jr., who was charged with desertion.

The decree provided that the plaintiff be awarded the custody, control, support, education and maintenance of Carl C. and Constance L. Hansen, the infant children of the couple until the further order of the court, subject to the right of the defendant to have the custody of the children for periods of time not to exceed two weeks at one time, and not to exceed a total period of time of three months in any given year.

Returns From Service

Hansen, it appears, was in the armed service and has since returned to Dixon after receiving his discharge. The information states that the plaintiff at some time subsequent to the divorce, moved from Lee county to the state of Ohio, taking the children with her without having first obtained an order of the court.

After conferring with Judge George C. Dixon, Hansen is said to have gone to the state of Ohio and brought the children back to Dixon where they had remained less than two weeks, when the mother arrived on a Sunday night and, going to her former husband's home, represented that she desired to take the children to Prophetstown to visit with relatives. After departing with the children, Hansen learned that she had not gone to Prophetstown, but had visited there prior to coming to Dixon, and from here she was presumed to have proceeded back to Ohio with the two children.

Attorney Edward Jones, representing Hansen, filed a petition for citation for contempt of court on Dec. 28, 1945. Attorney E. S. Wadsworth, representing Mrs. Hansen, communicated with his client, and informed Judge Dixon that the children were ill and could not be returned to Dixon. Recently, however, Attorney Wadsworth informed the court, he endeavored to contact his client by long distance telephone at her residence at Hamilton, Ohio, and that the operator had advised him that she had left that address and her present location was unknown. Attorney Wadsworth also informed Judge Dixon that he was not appearing in the case.

An attachment writ has been issued out of the Circuit court and delivered to Sheriff L. E. Bates. Judge Dixon stated at the hearing today that the court is determined to enforce its orders regarding the custody of the children, to the extent of resorting to the criminal action if it becomes necessary, and added that if the children are not produced, the matter will be presented to the grand jury on a kidnapping charge, the penalty for which is a penitentiary sentence. Judge Dixon further indicated that unless immediate action is taken the April grand jury will consider the kidnapping charges.

Probe of T. P. & W. Picket Slayings is On; Ask for Militia

Four Held, Deny Part in Shooting; Road Asks Green for Aid

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 7.—(AP)—A strike leader announced today he would demand prosecution of George P. McNear, president of the Toledo, Peoria & Western railroad, for the fatal shooting of two T. P. & W. strike pickets and the wounding of three others.

W. C. Keiser, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen, declared he would ask the state for indictments charging murder against McNear and four railroad guards. He declared McNear was in Peoria at the time of the shooting at nearby Gridley yesterday, but that an effort would be made to prove McNear was "responsible for the actions of his railroad guards."

Keiser made the announcement at Peoria strike headquarters, as representatives of the 13 railroad brotherhoods, on strike against the T. P. & W. since Oct. 1, opened a conference to determine a course of action.

Clifford N. Coolidge, state's attorney here, prepared to question further men identified by Jailer Edward Kalahar as special agents for the railroad.

The men were taken to the McLean county jail yesterday and held overnight without charge. Coolidge said that when questioned yesterday, all four denied firing on the pickets as the train stopped to switch onto a siding.

McNear could not be reached immediately for comment on the union leader's assertions.

McNear Asks for Militia

A request that Gov. Dwight H. Green called out the state militia was made following the shooting, by George P. McNear.

In his telegram to the governor McNear said the men were slain "as a result of an attack by a mob" and that the train crew members acted in "self defense."

Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Staley and Policeman Lee Andrews of Gridley said they took four shotguns, one rifle and eight pistols from a

Thirty-Two Persons Unaccounted for As Yukon Rescue Stops

Ketchikan, Alaska, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Thirty-two persons were unaccounted for when rescue vessels brought to Seward the last known load of survivors from the wrecked liner Yukon last night, and today the crew and passenger lists were being checked and rechecked to learn the names of the missing.

The rescuers had found no bodies and had removed the last of the Yukon's crew and passengers from the grounded, broken vessel and from the nearby shore. When the mercy craft unloaded their last group of survivors at Seward and a count was made the Coast Guard said 465 had been carried to safety.

The passengers and crew, according to lists announced by the Alaska Steamship Company and the Army, numbered 497.

The Coast Guard report from Seward said it was not known as yet whether all crewmen and passengers listed actually had been aboard when the Yukon sailed Sunday night from Seward, seven hours before she ran aground on the storm beaten rocks in Johnstone Bay.

United Nations Council Passes First Crisis, Tackles Another

London, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The United Nations Security Council, its first crisis passed with the solution of the Russian-British dispute over Greece, moved on today to consideration of the Soviet Ukraine charge that British troops in Indonesia were endangering the peace.

High officials said privately that this controversy might be "an even tougher diplomatic nut to crack" than was Russia's at the time of the British were jeopardizing world security by maintaining forces in Greece.

The 11-nation council was called into session at 5 p. m. (11 a. m. CST) and the first item on the agenda was the Ukrainian

Yamashita to Die Secretly in City His Force Sacked

Tokyo, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, his last hope for clemency denied by General MacArthur, must die secretly like a common criminal on the gallows in Manila—the city his trapped soldiers raped, pillaged and burned.

MacArthur, as final reviewing authority, today upheld the death sentence imposed on Yamashita by a military commission in Manila, and ordered that his one-time adversary meet his doom "stripped of uniform, decorations and other appurtenances signifying membership in the military profession."

Lt. Gen. Wilhelm D. Styer, acting on MacArthur's orders, will carry out the execution secretly and then announce it. Newspapersmen and photographers will be barred.

Witnesses Can't Talk

Styer, commander of Army forces in the Western Pacific with headquarters in Manila, said Army-selected witnesses to the execution would not be permitted to talk for publication.

Yamashita, charged with condoning atrocities by troops under his command in the Philippines, is the first top-ranking Japanese officer whose conviction has been reviewed by the supreme allied commander.

Fate of the calm, shaven-headed Japanese general was left in MacArthur's hands after the Philippines supreme court refused to transfer the case from military to civil jurisdiction, and the U. S. supreme court last Monday upheld the death sentence.

Denounces Nip Leader

MacArthur, in final review of the case against the foe who ignominiously failed to prevent his triumphant return to the Philippines, delivered this scathing denunciation of Yamashita: "It is not easy for me to pass judgment upon a defeated adversary in a major campaign. I have reviewed the proceedings in vain search for some mitigating circumstances on his behalf. I can find none."

Partial destruction of Manila, once-beautiful capital of the Philippines, was the only offense charged against Yamashita upon

Drastic Case Bill Sent to Senate by 257-155 Teller Vote

Truman Hopes to End Major Strikes; New York Has Emergency

Washington, Feb. 7.—(AP)—The House today passed 257 to 155 the hotly-disputed Case bill to curb and seek settlements of labor strife.

Final action came on a roll call vote, sending the far-reaching strike control legislation to the senate. There its foes predict it will meet tough sledding.

Just before the conclusive ballot, members shouted down a motion by Rep. Baldwin (R-NY) to send the bill back to the labor committee for further study.

The breakdown on the final vote on the bill was:

For—149 Republicans, 109 Democrats; Against—120 Democrats, 33 Republicans and two minor party members.

Clinching Vote Delayed

The measure, by Rep. Case (R-SD), won tentative approval late yesterday by a 258 to 155 standing count.

But the clinching vote was delayed until today when Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich) insisted that the lengthy, much-amended bill be brought to the house in its entirety.

The Case proposal, as it now stands, would:

1. Create a federal mediation board with authority to step into major labor disputes and forbid strikes or lockouts for 30 days while it sought to solve them.

2. Permit wide use of court injunctions in enforcing the cooling of period, preventing violence or insuring movement of perishable goods.

Provide for civil suits against either labor or management for breaking contracts.

Violence Outlawed

by either side. (Violators would be subject to court injunctions and to loss of their bargaining powers).

5. Ban boycotts used to force disputants to come to terms. Sponsors said this would prevent many jurisdictional controversies. (Violators would face loss of their bargaining powers.)

6. Deny employe status to unions of supervisory workers, unless they do manual productive labor.

Meanwhile President Truman said today he hoped to have a formula ready in a day or two to halt the steel and other big strikes.

Considers Formula

Responding to questions at a news conference, the president said the formula under consideration is not a completely new wage-price plan, but rather one for meeting the situation the nation is faced with now.

He added he believed it can be worked out in the next few days. Asked by a reporter if it is a "big steel formula", Truman said he had not heard of that.

The president said the whole question is one of production. All the people are aware, he added, of the need for production.

If we get mass production now, he said, the situation will adjust itself. There will be no reason for a new wage-price formula then, he stated.

He said this (mass) production aim was what the administration had laid down from the start.

Truman will confer at 2:30 p. m. (CST) today with Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the Steelworkers Union.

NEW YORK EMERGENCY

A strike of 3,500 tugmen in New York placed the nation's largest city in a state of emergency today as measures more stringent than those effective in wartime were ordered to conserve fuel.

As the Army and Navy prepared to man the harbor's strike-bound tugboats and help relieve the shortage of coal, oil and fuel supplies, a "brownout" and a drastic system of fuel rationing went into full effect. Beginning tomorrow schools will be closed for at least five days.

The military moved in on the federally-seized tug industry shortly after representatives of the union, employers and city said a proposal for settlement of the four-day old wage-hour dispute had been reached and was to be submitted to a referendum meeting of the union on Friday.

Details, not immediately disclosed, were worked out at an all-night conference which followed

George John Fassig

George John Fassig, a son of John P. Fassig and Sophie nee Florscheutz, was born in Brooklyn township on December 24, 1890. A few weeks later, on January 18, 1891 he was baptized by Pastor Michaelson of Immanuel Lutheran church of Brooklyn township and was confirmed in the same church on March 27, 1904 by Pastor August Goebel in a class of eight.

He grew to manhood in the West Brooklyn community and on March 5, 1913 he was united in marriage with Christina Wolf, Rev. L. Walters, of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Dixon performing the ceremony. Two children were born to this union. After their marriage the young couple took up residence on the J. Fassig home place a little more than a mile south of West Brooklyn. For 31 years the departed operated this farm with outstanding success, but he was not only a successful farmer, his industry and integrity won him the high regard of the community in which he spent his whole life.

When ill health made it impossible for him to continue farming he retired to Mendota in March, 1944, but he remained keenly interested in farming and delighted in visiting on the farm, though these trips cost him much effort and pain. A fall, a little over a year ago, in which he suffered a hip fracture, made it still more difficult for him to get around even with the help of crutches, but encouraged and assisted in every way by his devoted family he preserved and made use of his limited ability to get around to the very last day of his life. Last Friday night he suffered a heart attack and slept away quietly away on Saturday, February 2, 1946, at 6 a. m. at the age of 55 years, 1 month and 9 days.

George Fassig was a life-long member of Immanuel Lutheran church of Brooklyn township, was actively interested in his welfare and received the ministrations of his church gratefully. He leaves to mourn his departure: his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Fassig of West Brooklyn; his widow, Mrs. Christina Fassig, Mendota; one son, Milton Fassig, West Brooklyn; one daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Eich, Mendota; three grandchildren, Duane, John and Norman Fassig, West Brooklyn; three sisters, Mrs. Caroline Johnson, Mendota, Mrs. Christina Kutter, Mendota, and Mrs. Ella Geuther, Compton. One brother Carl August, preceded him in death in 1920.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Edmondson and son Jack of Ohio, Illinois, were week end guests at the W. A. Richardson's; also Mr. and Mrs. George Schnuckel and Miss Della Schnuckel were Sunday dinner guests. The occasion was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Schnuckel's birthdays.

The Compton high school will sponsor a new and old time dance in the school gymnasium on Saturday evening, February 9, 1946, from 9-12 p. m.

The Compton Woman's club will meet on Monday evening, February 11 at 7:45, at the school gym. Marian Angell, Citizenship chairman will have charge of the program. B. J. Frazer, principal of the Dixon high school, will be the speaker for the evening. Hostesses are Mildred Bradley, Ada Beemer, Eunice Stein, Amy Snyder and Pauline Holdren.

The three act comedy "Sis Perkins", sponsored by the Women's club was very well presented to a full house on Friday evening, February 1. After the play a banquet was given by members of the Women's club to the cast of players and also to those who so ably assisted in making the play a success.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about a pint a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits the excess acids and waste to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with a burning or burning sensation when passing urine are warning signs that there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Wax Paper Has Many Protective Uses

Keep Cereals Fresh

The next time you put a box of cereal back into the pantry, make doubly sure that you have repacked it carefully. All too many of us are in such a rush to clean off the breakfast table that we often forget to properly repack the inside layer of waxed paper and, consequently, the freshness of the cereal is soon lost. Remember the waxed paper inside the box was placed there to protect the freshness of the cereal until it is all used. So make use of this added protection. Roll the waxed paper down firmly and protect the freshness of your cereals.

Keep Bread Fresh

Did you ever consider how many loaves of bread the average housewife throws away during the year because the bread becomes stale? The total is amazing and costly! But it shouldn't be. . . . And it won't be for you if you take a tip from the baker who protects the freshness of your bread by wrapping it in waxed paper. Whenever you use bread at home, open the heat-sealed end and take out the slices you need and then carefully re-close the wrapper. Properly closing this protective wrapper is really more important than putting the bread in a bread box and it takes but a few seconds—and you will find that the last slice is just as fresh and tasty as the first—the way your family likes it.

These days, when you buy bread at your favorite bakery or grocery, you don't have to pinch it to make sure it's fresh. Modern packaging and distribution methods insure fresh bread 99 cases out of a hundred. When store bread first came into popularity, bakers made every effort to deliver it oven-fresh to local groceries. But packaging wasn't what it is today, and distribution was slow, and the result was that bread frequently became stale and hard. That's where bread-pinning developed. . . . women looking for fresh bread and giving each loaf an experimental pinch to find the freshest. Today, most bread is wrapped in waxed paper to protect the freshness of each loaf. It seems like a very small thing, but over the years it probably saves you hours of shopping time to know that bread wrapped in waxed paper is fresh bread!

Protects Crackers

Are you sometimes guilty of serving stale or soggy crackers with soups, salads and cheese? If you are, you shouldn't be, because crackers today are so well packed that careful repacking after each serving will help protect their freshness for a long time. When you open your next box of crackers, notice the care with which they are packed. . . . with outside protective covering of waxed paper, a heavy carton box, and a second protective covering of waxed paper lining on the inside of the box. But even with all of these precautions, crackers still can become stale or soggy if you don't carefully re-close the box after each serving. When you use crackers for a meal, take out the quantity of crackers you need, then roll the waxed paper lining down firmly and close the carton.

Keeps Powdered Sugar Dry

Powdered sugar has come to be one of our most essential kitchen standbys. We use it for making icings, candies and other dainty desserts. And many of us sprinkle powdered sugar on pastries and cakes to give them an added appetizing touch. Isn't it wonderful to be able to reach into your pantry and find your powdered sugar fresh, dry—ready for instant use? Housewives were not always this fortunate because until powdered sugar was wrapped in a liner of waxed paper and packed in a heavy carton, the sugar became moist, caked-up and was not desirable for use at all times. Today most of your powdered sugar is so carefully packed that it remains dry and fresh for a long period of time. And here's a tip to keep your powdered sugar dry and fresh longer. After using the sugar, be sure to roll the inside waxed paper down firmly and close the carton. It only takes a minute. Do it the next time you use powdered sugar.

Fair Enough

by Wentbrook Pegler

(Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate)

Those soldiers and sailors who have been angry at the big brass whom they accuse of luxurious self-indulgence and other offenses against the ranks are mistaken if they think this sort of thing will not continue in civil life, under the New Deal.

The city of New York always assumed that the mayor would find his own quarters and pay his own rent until the year 1942. In the ear of the common man, when the office was occupied by Fiorello La Guardia. Then the Gracie Mansion, of fifteen rooms on a plot of 13 acres on the East River, a site that no rich man would be allowed to monopolize for his personal comfort and pleasure in these days of congestion, became, by action of the Board of Estimate, the official residence of the mayor. It is a beautiful estate, luxuriously furnished, adorned by priceless antiques from the museums of the city and a library requisitioned from the public library and is maintained by the department of parks. It could rent for at least $50,000 a year.

This perquisite of a public office paying a salary of $25,000 was established in the reign of one who never tired of professing his great selfish devotion to the common man but was momentarily spurned by William O'Dwyer, when he succeeded the little dandelion. O'Dwyer was going to continue to live in his modest, two-family house on the far side of the East River, but temptation grabbed him by the wrist and, with a quick, firm twist, threw him violently. It was then announced that his little home was for sale, an altruistic sacrifice, no doubt, designed to relieve the housing problem by just that much. Waiting only until the department of parks could efface the wear and tear left by his predecessor and redecorate the mansion to his taste, Mayor O'Dwyer and his family moved in.

As a supplement to complaints of troops who have had to wait long in formation for reviews by inconsiderate generals, memory, and the record, recall an incident at Fort Des Moines, the original headquarters of the WACs, then known as the WAACs, when the young patriotic pioneers of this corps were turned out in bitter winter weather to be reviewed by a distinguished visitor. The distinguished visitor had no more right to review the corps, no more right to this honor, than your own Aunt Hattie and she arrived late on a government plane on which she had no right to fly. Growing impatient in the cold, the WAACs presently began to chant, according to a contemporary account in the Des Moines Register, to the tune of "The Old Gray Mare": "Here we stand, freezing and shivering, waiting for Eleanor".

If these resentful soldiers think regimentation will end when they come home, let them listen to excerpts from a letter from Charles L. Sheehan and Joseph D'Ambrosio, Boston teamsters, who had made certain charges against officers of their local union. Sheehan is a Marine veteran of two Jims. D'Ambrosio served in the Navy.

Last Oct. 17, their letter says, visited the union office to confer with P. Harry Jennings, the trustee, appointed by Dan Tobin, the international president, to run the local. Under such trusteeships, local autonomy is suspended, in some cases for years and the local members become wards of the international big brass.

Jennings was put out but Frank J. Halloran, the business agent, is quoted by the two veterans as having said to them: "You ex-service men are a dime a dozen. You think you are going to run the country". Sheehan and D'Ambrosio state that Halloran is married to the granddaughter of John Gillespie, the secretary-treasurer of the international, whose headquarters are in Indianapolis.

Alleged to have socked Halloran the two veterans were arrested. In court on appeal, they were acquitted of assault but, by way of a Christmas present from Old Dan Tobin, the monarch of the union, who enjoys a winter palace on Miami Beach at the expense of the good old common man, they were fined $250 each by the union, and suspended for one year which means that they can't work as teamsters during that time. The union trial was conducted by one man who owes his job to Tobin and the rest of the union's big brass and Tobin made the final decision, having assumed jurisdiction under the teamsters constitution which permits him to reverse the findings of the public courts, inflict fines, and throw veterans out of work, permanently, if it comes to that.

It was in Boston, two years ago, that local bosses of the teamsters undertook to pay off an enormous private debt of James M. Curley, another deserving Democrat and patron of the common man, so that he could start a new term in congress even with the board. Since then Curley has been elected mayor and since that election the climax of a long, stormy career, he has been convicted on ten counts of fraud in alleged promise of war contract procurement. Nevertheless, his return to Boston was a triumphal progress, with dignitaries of the Teamsters Union prominent in the ceremonies.

Old Dan Tobin, you may not know, was host to President Roosevelt when Roosevelt made that flippant, mocking opening speech of the 1944 campaign in Washington, following which a bunch of drunken goons beat up a couple of young naval officers. Roosevelt also selected Tobin to visit England as a worthy representative of American labor according to the totalitarian concept of the New Deal, as expressed in the Wagner Act and practically all union constitutions.

You will be free of the impositions of the big brass and the kind of justice dealt by courts martial, composed entirely of brass, when you come marching home.

Well, as the fellow is said to have remarked to Sheehan, of the Marines, and D'Ambrosio of the Navy: "You ex-service men are a dime a dozen".

You wait until you taste the justice dealt by the union brass.

A Lee county coroner's jury, impaneled by Coroner Frank Nangle, assisted by Deputy Coroner Paul Soderger, returned a verdict of accidental death from third degree burns at an inquest at the hospital.

Mrs. Alderks, who only recently recovered from a long illness, lighted the lamp in the kitchen of her home just before retiring Tuesday night and her clothing was ignited. A 9-year-old granddaughter, Lavonna Alderks, who had been living with the aged woman, ran to a neighbor for aid and a Chana physician ordered removal to a hospital.

Prussian officers came swaggering toward us, attracted by the throng and the car. We knew we were in for it unless some wholly unexpected help turned up. The Germans were closing in fast when suddenly a little man popped up from the crowd and asked: "Can I be of service to you?" We hastily explained our predicament and said our need was for some place to hide—and quick. With that, Marechal—for it was he—pulled a man out of the crowd and shoved him onto our runningboard with a whispered order.

Then Marechal took command of the people like a field marshal and opened up a lane for our car, at the same time maintaining a barrier against the oncoming Germans. The Prussians' faces were pictures of rage, but they couldn't get through.

Well, we wound up in Marechal's own palatial home, where he hid us until the next day, when we made our getaway. That same night he acted as my guide on an expedition into the heart of Brussels, when again disaster nearly overcame us—but that's another story.

As Mrs. Mack and I were about to leave the Marechal home yesterday I asked him if he was hopeful for the future of Belgium. His eyes shone as he nodded. He has a faith that would move mountains, has Marechal.

"Yes," he said, "Belgium will come through even better than she did after the last war, because our economy is better planned these days than it was then."

"Murder!" They Cried

By DOROTHY STALEY

THE STORY: When Betsy insists that Pen Downes is in love with her, Anna tells her about Fletcher and Dr. But adds that Fletcher loves her so much he refuses to touch her until he is free of Phillips. Later, Anna overhears Betsy plead with Phillips to divorce Fletcher, saying that her father will take care of Phillips financially.

IX

THERE was a break in the conversation as though Phillips had stopped to light a cigarette. "What are you?" she went on. "I missed you from Papa?"

"I can see Phillips's eyes narrowing and her mouth straightening into a thin line as plainly as though I had been in the room."

"That's it, isn't it? You people want the boys. They're Willsons, aren't they? Well, let me tell you. You won't get them. Do you understand? You won't get them."

"They're mine, too, and they're one thing the Willsons won't be able to get just because they want them. Everything's always been pretty easy for you people, hasn't it? Anything and everything you ever wanted you got, just like that, didn't you? The world was made for the Willsons, wasn't it? People were made for them too, weren't they? To work for them."

"Wait on them. Hire a man, work him for all he's worth, when you're done with him, kick him out. Marry a girl and decide she isn't good enough. Kick her out, too."

Betsy broke the tirade. "Oh, Phil, it isn't that way at all. But Phil was started now. 'If you don't like a thing, get out a check book. Push other people around, then expect them to be grateful. Well, I made up my mind when I got in this family that they weren't pushing me around. They could boss me around the office, but once I was out of that place, I was done taking terribly unpleasant, she was telling Betsy the things her mother and I would like to have told her."

"Phillips was saying now, 'You're not his kind of woman. Ask him and see what he says. He doesn't want you; he doesn't even want your money.' I couldn't even hear her smack one hand smartly against the other. 'He doesn't want your money, but I'll bet that wife of his would like a slice of it. What do you think she would do, Betsy, if she knew a few of the things that have been happening at Long Meadow? Those days and evenings in Pen's Studio. So innocent! I wonder what she would think? Of course, for a little of the Willson money, she might be willing to think only the right things. I wonder what it would be worth to her to know—"

"A divorce where there is a co-responder is apt to be a bit nasty. The newspapers eat it up." Betsy's answer with its implication made me ill. "Phillips, you wouldn't dare."

Phillips taunted, "Oh, wouldn't I! I think I'll go to Connecticut tomorrow. It might be interesting. In fact, I'm sure it would. It would be fun to see this family squirm for a change instead of jangling it over every one."

Betsy said, "You better go now, Phillips."

"Why?" Phillips asked. "I'm enjoying myself. And you asked me to come in."

That was when Betsy lost control. "Get out," she fairly screamed. I heard her cross the room and fling the door so it struck the wall. "Get out!"

Then I heard the voice of Sarah, the upstairs girl. I never had trusted that girl and I had told Miss Jenny so. She had a definite list to the right like an old tug, which I was certain had come from leaning too close to doors.

"Why, Miss?" Sarah was saying. "Whatever are you doing with the poker in your hand and it 97 in the shade, and

Champaign is Top Choice as Pairings for Meets Appear

Rabs, Kirkland Rank as Best Northern Picks in Court Grind

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 7.—(AP)—Opening assignments for 831 downstate teams in the 1946 Illinois high school basketball tournaments were announced today in pairings for 57 district meets Feb. 19-22, and 60 regionals Feb. 26 through March 1.

All winners of small school district competition move up to regional tests where major quintets start their state title quest.

Regional winners advance to the 15 downstate sectional sites March 7-8. Sectional winners and the Chicago city champion qualify for the 16 team finals at Champaign, March 14-16.

Champaign, (won 24, lost 1) currently the pre-tournament favorite to lift Decatur's state crown, is expected to whirl through the Fisher regional, Champaign opens with Monticello.

Decatur Makes Bid
Although below its 1945 excellence, Decatur far outclasses its regional opponents. Since a bad spell in January, when they lost three games in five days, the Reds have won 10 of 11 and appear set for their customary strong title bid.

Four of the hottest regional arguments are in prospect at Elgin, Waukegan, Edwardsville and Glen Ellyn.

Elgin (13-1) and Dundee (18-2) both top ranking clubs, are seeded in opposite brackets and the ultimate outcome rates as a tossup.

At Waukegan, a lively fracas looms between Waukegan (16-3) and Maine Township (15-3) if Maine isn't spilled first by Niles Township, one of its three conquerors to date.

Six Southwestern conference members are jammed in the Edwardsville meet. Collinsville (18-7) owns victories over the other five but may have trouble repeating over Edwardsville (18-5) or Wood River (14-5).

Glenbard, Morton to vie

Glenbard's highly regarded Bards are menaced in their regional's upper bracket by Morton of Cicero, whose Mustangs are toughest in tournament play. Lower bracket standouts are Oak Park (10-4) and Proviso of Maywood (11-6).

West Frankfort's Red Birds, the south's front rated aspirant with 21 wins and two losses are favored at Benton, although they'll probably have an eye cocked on Johnston City's Indians, who held West Frankfort to a seven point edge in January.

Centralia (16-9) and Salem (12-12) have split in two matches so far and may clash a third time for the Centralia flag.

Mt. Vernon (20-3) and Fairchild (21-3) are likely finalists at Mt. Vernon's tourney, as are Calumet City (18-3) and Joliet (12-6) at Chicago Heights. Mt. Vernon already has downed Fairfield twice.

Somonauk Strong Again

Three district teams expected to make strong bids are Kansas, Kirkland and Somonauk. Kansas (20-1) probably will move up to the regional and may play a third game with Paris (23-3). Each has defeated the other.

Kirkland has won 21 of 22 starts, and if successful in district contests would advance to the regional where East Rockford (13-3) is favored.

Somonauk (15-5), a 1945 state finalist, has to bag its own district before competing at Ottawa against such teams as Marseilles (12-3), Ottawa (5-9) and Streator (16-15).

Old Leaders Falter in Petersen Pin Classic

Chicago, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Fourteen days of bowling have proved there's no future in the $52,000 Petersen individual classic for some of the sport's past masters as well as nearly 1,600 of the 2,080 legions entered in the tourney.

Buddy Bonar of Chicago, 1944 match game champion, could do no better than 1,449, which was 136 points short of breaking into the tourney's top ten. Connie Schwoegler of Madison, Wis., match game king in 1943, had a 1,521. Earlier Joe Wilman of Chicago, who won the title last year, failed to place among the top shooters.

The leaders include: Frank Carr, Fort Wayne, Ind., 1,618.

Michigan State Meet Has Long Entry List

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 7.—The greatest concentration of midwestern track and field stars since pre-war days will compete in the 24th running of the Michigan State college relays here Saturday.

Ten midwestern colleges have entered 326 men, including full teams from Michigan State, Notre Dame, University of Michigan and Ohio State, and individual representatives from Kansas, Northwestern, Loyola, Wayne University of Detroit, and Western Michigan.

Isbell Predicts Big 10 Teams in Rose Bowl

Los Angeles, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Cecil Isbell, Purdue football coach, says he won't be surprised if the Big Ten and Pacific Coast conference champions meet in the Rose Bowl "in the not too distant future."

Isbell told a Purdue alumni group he would welcome such an arrangement. But Willis O. Hunter, chairman of the Rose Bowl committee, says bluntly: "The next move is up to the Big Ten."

The afternoons of this f. l. i. s. The afternoons and evenings until 7 p. m. are available for legions who desire to qualify for the city championship with Saturday and Sunday afternoon also available. There is no entry fee for this, all that is required is that a bowler roll three games, with at least four other bowlers, using a pair of balls, the high score entering the roll-off with defending champ, Ralph Schroeder.

There is still opportunity to enter the mixed summer league for both men and girls. Three of each make up the teams which will start rolling Feb. 24. If you intend to roll you should enter as soon as possible, so the schedule can be made out.

Ostrander and Utz were the most consistent bowlers last night with a difference of five pins in their games. Ostrander showing 168-168-163 and Utz 146-143-143. A few days ago Dale Weidman slipped on a patch of ice at his farm and instead of landing in the conventional position, came down on his head, cracking his skull and leaving him so delirious he rolled one of his highest series, 704 in the Polo match Tuesday night.

In looking over the scores in the fast Classic league last night trying to find a team which might get a little publicity in the ABC the following might do: Lyle Melvin, 385; Bill Keenan, 384; Stumpf 383; Matt Moerschbacher 355, and Germanson, 327; as an extra man they'd have to step into the higher brackets and take Eph Worton with 408. Lyle Myers must be just what Paul Potts

BEWARE OF PIN-WORMS

Medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children and adults are victims of Pin-Worms. Watch for the warning signs, especially the embarrassing, nagging rectal itch. Marketeers needed, as they've only lost one game out of the last eight, since Lyle joined them. Lyle, who had 536 last night should not be confused with his brother, Eldon, who ended in a blaze of glory with 114 in his last game to total 451. But, as Feeewe said, his Royal Blue squad didn't need the pins as they won three games. We wouldn't want Ken Detweiler, to know it, but we're not a bit satisfied with the way he's filling our shoes for the Central Foods on Thursday night.

Car Load of Food
To supplement the $1,500 contribution from the Community Chest to the European relief fund, sponsored by the Mount Morris Council of Churches, in order to reach the community objective of $2,500, many organizations and individuals are pressing forward this week. The campaign closes February 12.

Believing that the starvation and suffering in western Europe must be alleviated more quickly if the purposes and results of this war are not to be lost, the Council of Churches last week undertook to mobilize the second Mount Morris participation in a relief program. In late December more than two tons of used clothing were collected and forwarded, less days a miserable existence of food which will cost approximately $2,500. The contact will be made with European nations which were our allies, through United Church service.

From many sources comes indisputable evidence of the depressing situation in western Europe. One news agency reports these later winter months in western Europe are witnessing more widespread human suffering than has ever been known before in history. One writer has dramatized the appeal this way: "Let us, then not sit down to eat without remembering that most of the millions of the earth are now starving, stretching out through cheerless days a miserable existence on the pitiful bits of edible refuse they can pick up. Let us not lie down in the warm comfort and security of our beds at night without recalling that millions are huddled in caves, wrought out of the debris of war, or are lying with their hungry, whimpering babies on the cold, hard slabs of an empty, shattered church or public building. When we eat or rest

AREN'T PEOPLE WONDERFUL?
—By Quaker

SOMETHING TELLS ME THIS IS A GOOD IDEA!

QUAKER OATS
The World's Best-Tasting Breakfast Food

Sometimes people instinctively do the very thing that's good for them—and later, science supplies the explanation. For instance: ever since the Bronze Age, branny races have favored oats. The Irish and Scotch were outstandingly fond of oats dishes. In 1787, George Washington had a 400-acre oat crop at Mount Vernon. Frontiersmen thrived on oatmeal.

Today, we know that whole-grain oatmeal leads all other natural cereals in Protein, the great stamina element; in Vitamin B₁ for growth and energy; and in Food-Energy, itself! Real Quaker Oats is the world's most delicious breakfast food, too!—always cooks up just right—always gives you that real oatmeal flavor. Get a big, economical package of real Quaker Oats today!

Home Bureau

The members of the Wyoming unit of the Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. Oakley Durr on Friday for their all day meeting. There were 14 members present for the morning session of the handicraft school which was conducted by the Home Advisor, Miss Barbara Herlin, of Amboy. The lesson showed the ladies how to put designs on salad plates, glove boxes, etc., and was most interesting to everyone. At 12 o'clock a most delicious pot-luck dinner was served from a table filled with all kinds of good things to eat. For the afternoon session which began at 2:00 o'clock there were 16 members and one special guest, Miss Raymond Willard in attendance. The regular business meeting was held with the president, Mrs. August Schiesinger, presiding, and the major lesson was given by Miss Barbara Herlin. The topic was "Peace Proposals of Interest to Women" and pointed out that there are many proposals in the peace plans that should be of vital interest to all women. Mrs. Floyd Alexander gave the two minor lessons on "Pickles and Relishes" and "Your Best Foot Forward" in her excellent manner. An announcement was made telling of the family night planned for Feb. 25 to be held at Amboy. Each unit of the Home Bureau is to contribute some member to the program and we have selected Mrs. Alvin Beemer for our unit to represent us in giving a reading. Every member present enrolled in the States Homes program for 1946, and the members all thank Miss Herlin for her presence. Their next meeting will be held on Friday, March 1 at the home of Mrs. Earl Kaiser and all are urged to attend.

Dinner Guests
A large number of friends and relatives gathered at the Robert Avery home on Sunday evening for a family dinner. At about 6:30 o'clock a most delicious supper was served, and the table was filled with all kinds of good food that go to make up such a feast. Mrs. Albert Bauer won high honor for the ladies and Mrs. Jean Kern received the consolation prize. For the men, Ivan Kern was high score, and Albert Bauer finished with the son Carl Mathesius' 57th birthday. The evening was spent playing cards and in visiting with the guests of honor. During the festivities, they were presented with many very nice gifts which they can make good use of. A delicious sack lunch was also enjoyed with everyone given generous helpings of a beautifully decorated birthday cake. It was a pleasant evening for all and one we feel sure the guests of honor will long remember as they thanked the guests for helping them celebrate. Best wishes of everyone was extended to them for many more birthday anniversaries.

The afternoon was spent playing many games and contests that furnished fun for all. The hostess then served delicious refreshments of home-made ice cream piled high on dishes and some of Doris' birthday cake which was attractively decorated for the occasion. The youngsters soon made all of these goodies disappear, and then Doris opened all of her lovely gifts. She was well remembered and as the girls left late in the day extending best wishes to her, Doris thanked each and everyone of them for helping make this, her eighth birthday one she will long remember.

The West Brooklyn "Purple and Golders" journeyed to Compton Wednesday evening to exchange basketball skill with their most interesting foes. The Compton basketballers predicted an easy victory over their

Dr. Avery of Mendota was a professional caller in Scarboro Friday evening.

Mrs. Donald Smith and son and father, Mr. Sanderson of Crpton, spent Tuesday afternoon at the A. W. Smith home.

Fred and Lewis Durin have recently finished spreading 50 tons of phosphate on their farm land, Gaylord Thorn doing the job of trucking.

The Scarboro Elevator company has been rushed to the limit for several days, trying to handle the corn that has been coming in. Loaded trucks have been standing in line waiting to unload their corn.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Haines and family were entertained for dinner at the Forrest Haines home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Riley and granddaughter, Verna Morning, of Lee Center and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Rees enjoyed Sunday dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Rees.

Mr. and Mrs. William Grove and daughters of Paw Paw called at the John Grove home Sunday evening.

Mrs. P. C. Schoenholz spent Saturday with her mother, Mrs. Guy Levy, of Steward.

John Grove called at the Chas. Hess home in Steward Saturday evening.

Miss Dorothy Durin has been absent from school because of illness for a few days.

The Kaufman family has moved from the Lutz farm, taking three scholars from the school taught by Mrs. Schriver, leaving only the two Truckenbrod children as students.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Thompson of Paw Paw were calling on friends and former neighbors Tuesday evening.

The Steward basketball team and their coach, J. M. Thompson, are to be congratulated by the Steward and Scarboro fans, and patrons of the Steward Community high school for their achievement of winning eight games out of 12 played thus far this season.

All players except one were green. The team consisted of a senior, two juniors and three sophomores, with only one player from previous year. It is indicated that there was interest and an intense desire to make a good showing for the team and the school.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Williams and family were shopping in Paw Paw Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Smith are caring for their grandson, little Stevie Reed, while Mrs. Reed is confined to the hospital in Rockford.

The sympathy of this community goes out to the relatives and saddened family of Frank Wheeler of Paw Paw, who was so suddenly taken from them Friday. Mr. Wheeler's many friends regret his passing. He was always pleasant and courteous to the patrons the many years he was associated with the State Bank of Paw Paw.

District Townsend Meeting
Members of Amboy Townsend club attended the 13th district meeting at Rock Falls Sunday.

The morning session opened with the invocation, singing of "America," and pledge to the flag. Mr. Gruber conducted the election of members for the 13th district council. Mrs. Anna Ross, Amboy club president, was elected.

The meeting adjourned for dinner which was served by Rock Falls Townsend club at the Odd Fellows hall.

The afternoon meeting was held in the Rock Falls high school. Newly elected president of council, F. A. Rubick, presided, and announced a program of vocal solos, tap dancing, piano numbers.

Hon. Mayor Kreger of Rock Falls welcomed the visitors, as did Jack Adams, president of the Business Men's association, and Mr. Hoffner, president of the Rotary club.

Donald Pullen of Chicago, director of the Townsend Volunteers, addressed the group as did Mr. Gruber. Both men stressed the need for the enacting of the Townsend plan, and asked members to support public officials who favored it. The Townsend plan was outlined for the benefit of people who are not familiar with it. Dr. Francis E. Townsend suggests "Let the federal government collect 3 per cent of everybody's gross income at the end of each month and distribute every cent, so collected in the course of the following month, among those of the unemployed who could never hope to get jobs because they are too old or blind or physically disabled. Economists estimate that a federal tax of three per cent on the gross monthly intake of business and individuals (excluding the first $100 a month of individual incomes) using 1943 government figures as a basis, would raise enough money to distribute $127.06 a month among the 16 million citizens who are now eligible, those past 60 or disabled widows with dependent children. Totally disabled veterans would receive this annuity for the duration of their disability. A widow would receive this annuity each month until such time as the youngest child reached the age of eighteen.

Those from Amboy club attending were Mrs. Anna Ross, president; Clem Miller, secretary; Mrs. Rose Leake and W. S. Frost, delegates, and Mrs. Temperance Tilton, Mrs. Clem Miller, Mrs. C. C. Schwamberger, Mrs. Ralph Reiley, Charles Ross, Warren Leake and Michael Sharkey.
